Sheriff is a free app, for iPhone and iPad, that empowers users to protect their privacy online, by blocking JavaScript and Cookies on a per-domain basis.

JavaScript and Cookies are key technologies enabling privacy-invasive behaviours, like user tracking and data collection, on the web.

Safari allows users to block JavaScript and Cookies for all domains, however, this is impractical for everyday use of the web.

Sheriff is built upon Safari's Content Blocker technology. Sheriff submits a list of rules to Safari to use in blocking JavaScript and Cookies. Sheriff never has access to your web browsing history.

Sheriff is not an ad-blocker. However, the ad industry is the main culprit of privacy-invasive behaviour on the web. So, while Sheriff is not designed to block ads, ads may be blocked in practice.

Sheriff Pro unlocks the power to block documents (HTML, XML), images, Style Sheets (CSS), fonts, SVGs, media (audio, video), popups, pings, fetches, and WebSockets. Sheriff Pro is a one-time, lifetime in-app purchase for $9.
